

WWC Alumni Newsletter 1991-1992

Dear WWC,

Greetings from the hinterlands of western NY, it is questionable how much longer the beloved Bills will reside here or so the rumors go.

The current count for our family is: me, my wife Joy, son Dietrich 6, and daughter Hope 17mo.

Also residing with us are 23 chickens, 8 goats, 6 fish, 4 horses, 2 pigs, 2 dogs and 2 cats.

I recently changed jobs from ER type of practice to inpatient medicine and am enjoying a new aspect of healthcare and learning a lot. We are attempting home schooling Dietrich and as is typical we have better days and etc.

Joy is busy with the majority of the schooling, home care, making soap to sell, improving her riding, playing the piano for Sunday worship, and keeping Hope out of the toilet, dog dish, trash can, humidifier, and off the table, counter, stairs, and computer.

Deek is into pirates (who don't do anything), Indians (with his reproduction tarp TP), dinosaurs, pushing his sister while trying to avoid detection and general bouncing around the house, off furniture, walls and windows (I needed to replace that one anyway) and remaining skinny despite the caloric intake.

Hope is just busy. She loves to "rock rock" in the rocking chair with a big person (especially her Ompa) with a book, ride in the truck (broom broom), wear her boots (booo), and eat chicken (bock bock) and fish (make a fish mouth).

I haven't gone rock climbing is quite a while, only kayaked once this fall (but it was great), but running the chain saw and the international is quite enjoyable. I've recently started a new hobby, getting back to my roots - running and repairing older Mercedes diesels. I have found that the running is generally more enjoyable, but the repair time.... oh the repair time. That and making TPs and pulling little kids around on sleds with x-country skis.

I remember you all fondly
Hans Hinterkopf
